Thanks for the help on this. I'm really sorry I had to pull out but this is just part of my job, and actually it's the part that "I live for". I'll explain later.

For right now it looks like the management team will be staying in Dallas and working out of our Emergency Response Center in downtown. We may eventually get to Durango or Farmington, but for the most part, we are just sending our engineers, water quality specialists, etc.

Still makes for very long 12 hour days going 7 days a week. The down side of staying in town, is we have to put up with upper management and their craziness. I really don't mind, but for the first little while I go home exhausted and then don't sleep well. Ugh, But eventually sleep will overcome the efforts to lay away and think about this all night.

Love and Blessing.

Cindy, Mickalea is still in Mexico on vacation and was not available to use your ticket so Tiffany had an idea. (Tiffany could not use it either as she is teaching her student that day...But, she said she could run down to FUMm early that morning and get the handouts since you had already paid. I canceled my reservation and we will get the material and make copies. Debbie is going to check and see if the organizers would be interested in coming to us and doing a mini version since we have German school and PT. Will let you know what we learn. Good luck on your trip. From what I see on TV, things are pretty much a mess up there
